

The FedEx Express Super Hub in Memphis, TN

The Memphis Super Hub is the oldest and largest facility in the FedEx Express network. The FedEx Express Super Hub in Memphis is strategically located near the heart of the continental United States, providing overnight service to the entire nation and many key international world markets. FedEx Express has made the Memphis International Airport the busiest cargo airport in the world as the Super Hub connects customers to more than 220 countries and territories on six continents.

FedEx Express Hub

---

- Began Operations: April 17, 1973. On its first night of operations, Federal Express delivered 186 packages to 25 U.S. cities using fourteen small aircraft.
- Workforce: More than 15,000 FedEx Express employees
- Facilities: Approximately 500 acres at Memphis International Airport.
- Operations: 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year
- Volume: More than 5,000 flights pass through the Memphis Super Hub each month, providing connectivity to every market served by FedEx. Five sorts per day bring an average of 1.5 million packages through the facility daily.

Key Facts and Figures

---

- The FedEx Super Hub in Memphis helps facilitate domestic and global trade.
  - The FedEx Express Super Hub in Memphis is strategically located near the heart of the continental United States, providing overnight service to the entire nation and many key international world markets.
  - FedEx Express has made the Memphis International Airport the busiest cargo airport in the world as the Super Hub connects customers to more than 220 countries and territories on six continents.
  - FedEx Express serves 95% of the global economy on a 24- to 48-hour basis. The Memphis Super Hub connects to every international market served by FedEx Express.
- The Memphis Super Hub contains more than 300 miles of conveyor belts, creating a network of state-of-the-art automated package-sorting systems that are capable of processing approximately 500,000 packages per hour.